

On Thursday, November 5, 2009 at 10:00 a.m. in room 2154 of the Rayburn House Office Building, the Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, Postal Service and the District of Columbia will hold a hearing entitled "More than Stamps: Adapting the Postal Service to a Changing World."

In a recent address, Postmaster General John Potter described products and services the Postal Service is interested in offering to diversify and discussed future plans to generate additional revenue opportunities. To that end, the upcoming hearing will examine what steps the Postal Service has taken since Congress passed the Postal Accountability and Enhancement Act of 2006 to use its increased flexibility to grow revenue. Further, the hearing will also discuss barriers or limitations to the Postal Service's efforts to innovate and assess pioneering practices of foreign Posts in this area.
